

Red Cat and Blue Cat lived in the same house.

Blue Cat
stayed upstairs.

Red Cat stayed downstairs.

Whenever they saw each other—

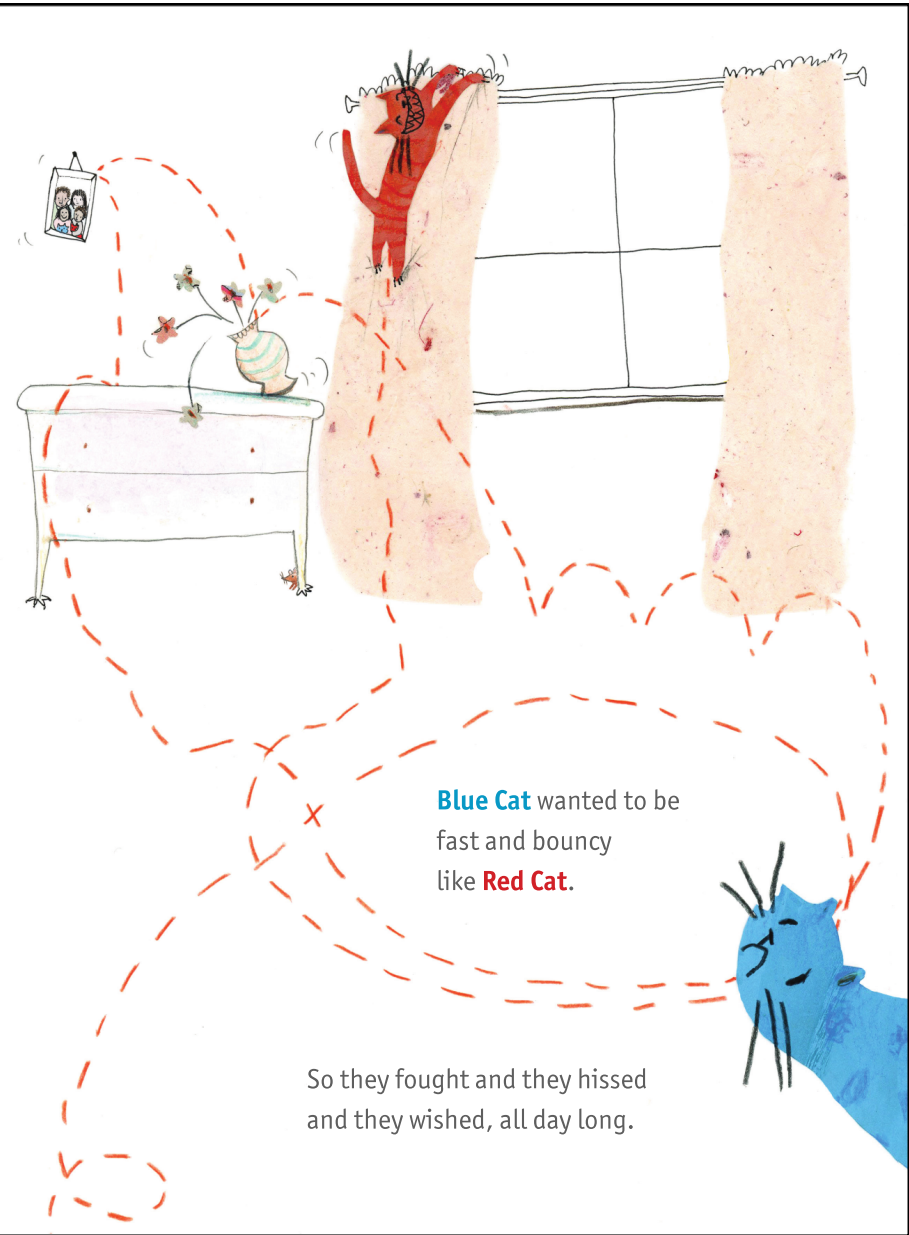

it was NOT good. Not good at all.

But neither cat knew about the other's secret wish.

Red Cat wished he were as smart as Blue Cat, and . . .

Blue Cat wanted to be fast and bouncy like Red Cat.

So they fought and they hissed and they wished, all day long.

"Don't you want to be like me?" asked Red Cat.

"Well, maybe," said Blue Cat, "just a little bit."

Red Cat showed Blue Cat how to run fast and jump high.

"Follow me!" said Red Cat.

